Labor Leaders See Ike

Tell Him Unions Will React Vigorously To Any Effort To Cut Living Standards

NEW YORK (P)—Officials of the CIO discussed labor problems with President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower at his headquarters today and said in a statement later the CIO "will react vigorously to any effort to cut living standards or to attack labor."

The officials said they did not make any suggestions to Eisenhower about a secretary of labor.

Their conference covered a number of subjects, and the statement said the union members will support Eisenhower in his "constructive endeavors."

It was issued by Henry C. Fleisher, director of publicity for the CIO.

In the group were Walter Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers; James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO, and Allan S. Haywood, executive vice president of the CIO.

Report On Conversation

The statement said in part: "We have had a most pleasant conversation with President-elect Eisenhower."

"The conversation covered a variety of subjects of mutual interest."

"We congratulated Gen. Eisenhower on his election, and as Americans, pledged our support to him as the President of the United States. x x x"

"The CIO, of course, remains loyal to its program, which calls for increasing living standards, controlling inflation, repeal of anti-labor legislation, promoting needed welfare measures for the people, improving social security, and strengthening the structure of civil rights and civil liberties, while resisting totalitarian aggression and inflation."

"As it has in the past, the CIO will give support to those members of Congress who work for these objectives and as we told Gen. Eisenhower we will react vigorously to any effort to cut living standards, to attack labor or to obstruct progress toward worthy goals for our American democracy."

Names Press Secretary
Assistant designated James C. Hagerty as press secretary and retired Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons as special assistant.

Selection of the two executive aides was announced yesterday by Eisenhower's headquarters while he rested at his home preparing for what promises to be a heavy week end schedule.

Included in the round of appointments today were meetings with India's top United Nations delegate and CIO chiefs.

The 42-year-old Hagerty was at his home in Albany, N. Y., with his wife and two sons when informed of his appointment.

Hagerty, who served as press secretary to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey until becoming Eisenhower's press aide after the general's nomination, said: "I am happy and honored to serve in President Eisenhower's administration. It is a privilege to work for him."

Hagerty added that Eisenhower plans to meet visitors both tomorrow and Sunday, a departure from his previous custom of keeping those days clear for rest. The press secretary-designate also said more appointments to office will be made over the week end.

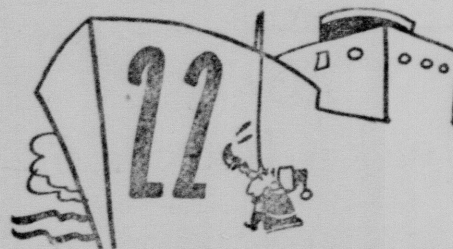

Septuplets Called Hoax

SANTIAGO, Chile (P)—The federal police today announced the reported birth of septuplets to a Chilean woman last night was a "vulgar hoax."

The announcement of the fraud was made by Luis Salamanca, head of the fifth federal police section. The same police officer who late last night had told a reporter for the daily newspaper El Mercurio that seven girls had been born to a woman Salamanca identified as Mrs. Carmen Molina, attended by a midwife.

Mercury Cuddles

The mercury wrapped itself up in itself this morning, cuddling up at the bottom of the little glass tube and registered a crimpily 11 degrees. It was a day about like Thanksgiving Day turned out to be — beautiful overhead, chilly roundabout.

Thanksgiving Lasts a Week For Buena Vista Residents

The Thanksgiving season at Buena Vista Home has been a very happy one for the 40 men and women who make their home there.

Many of those at Buena Vista were taken to the homes of relatives to join in the family Thanksgiving dinners and that was a real treat for them. Those who spent Thanksgiving Day in the home had a nice time, too, for they were among friends, the people they are with all the time and the dinner was a real Thanksgiving dinner with everything good to eat that goes with the day.

The Buena Vista Thanksgiving started on Sunday afternoon, for that is chapel time at the home, when ministers from Sedalia and adjoining territory take turns in conducting weekly religious services. Last Sunday was Thanksgiving Sunday. The Rev. W. A. Morgan, always a good friend of the home, was there to present, in song and scripture, the Thanksgiving message.

Immediately following the services the Future Homemakers group from Smith - Cotton High School visited the home and presented a program which delighted the Buena Vista folks. It was a program of instrumental music and readings. Then they left a gift of homemade cookies and favors for the Thanksgiving table. With the group were several of the mothers of the girls and Mrs. A. R. Beach, who accompanied the vocal numbers. Beverly Engholm is president of the group and Mrs. Mary Maddox teacher.

On Tuesday afternoon members of the Oak Grove Homemakers Club went to the home and presented a Thanksgiving service in music and readings and then fruit with them personal gifts and fruit for each member of the home. Mrs. Clifford Mawhorter is president of the club.

The programs and gifts to the people at the Buena Vista Home are not only appreciated by them, but also by the members of the board which operates it.

Otterville Bank Will Honor Gunn This Saturday

James Henry Gunn, president of the Bank of Otterville, is to be honored by that institution on Saturday, for his fiftieth anniversary as an officer of the bank.

Open house will be held at the bank from 2 to 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, at which time Mr. Gunn will have an opportunity to visit with his many friends and bank officials from neighboring towns.

Mr. Gunn has had a colorful career in the banking business. He was elected as an assistant cashier of the bank on Sept. 25, 1902; elected a director on Jan. 13, 1908; elected cashier Feb. 8, 1909; advanced to the presidency, active, Jan. 13, 1947 and has continued as the executive officer up to this time.

He has also served his community as State Senator from the old 14th District in the 54, 55, 56 and 57th General Assemblies. He has been active in the affairs of Otterville and served as mayor.

122 Persons Die In Turkey Day Accidents

By The Associated Press
One hundred twenty-two persons lost their lives in traffic and miscellaneous accidents over Thanksgiving Day.

An unofficial survey showed that 99 persons were killed on streets and highways and 23 in miscellaneous mishaps between 6 p. m. Wednesday and last midnight.

Cold weather and snow-packed and icy highways kept thousands of motorists off the highways and the cut in travel held down the traffic toll. It is the death list compared with 102 last year, 94 in 1950, 123 in 1949, 86 in 1948, 107 in 1947 and 69 in 1946.

National Safety Council records show that in the first nine months of this year 99 persons were killed in traffic every 24 hours. This total, however, is not comparable with that of the Thanksgiving Day survey because it includes deaths of injured occurring days, weeks or months after the actual date of the accident.

Several states reported no fatal accidents over the holiday.

Greenland Experiences Outbreak Of Polio

ODTHAAB, Greenland (P)—An outbreak of polio — first to hit Greenland in 20 years — has spread today to Narsak, 40 miles from a big U. S. Air Force base at Narsaruaq in the southern part of the ice-capped island.

Only native Greenlanders have been stricken thus far in the epidemic, which previously had been confined to Godthaab, capital of this Danish colony. About a dozen persons have been taken ill and one has died.

Winnie Judd Not Located

Trunk Murderess Still at Large After Sixth Escape From Mental Hospital

PHOENIX, Ariz. (P)—The out-again-in-again trunk murderess, Winnie Ruth Judd, led searchers a baffling chase today after her sixth escape from the State Hospital for the Insane.

Red-haired Winnie squirmed out through a sawed window screen last night.

With her customary craftiness, she left nothing to show just how she circumvented the many precautions taken to keep her in. A year from the hospital where she has been confined since 1933. In 1931 she killed two girl friends and shipped their dismembered bodies to Los Angeles as baggage. She was sentenced to be hanged but was found insane just 72 hours before she was scheduled to go to the gallows.

Her flight last night set off a frantic search not only for 48-year-old Winnie but for an unknown accomplice or accomplices.

"She had help some way or other to make the escape," said Dr. M. W. Conway, hospital superintendent. Sheriff's Lt. Frank Mitchell agreed. "She definitely had help," he said.

Mitchell led a band of officers and hospital attendants on an unproductive search of the dark, shrub-dotted asylum grounds.

This, Dr. Conway said, is how Winnie got out.

About 7:30 p. m. last night she complained of a headache and said she was going to take a bath. She went into the bathroom, carrying a robe over her arm. Fifteen minutes later an attendant looked in and she was gone.

A hole 15 inches square gaped in the heavy mesh window screen. The glass window had been cranked outward.

The window was nearly six feet from the ground.

"The sawing was an expert job," Dr. Conway said. "It wasn't something she did tonight."

Mitchell said that "someone must have helped her to the ground as she came out the window. The hole in the screen was so small she would have had to wiggle out."

Mrs. Judd left strands of her auburn hair and threads from her green sweater on the severed ends of the one-eighth inch wires of the screen.

This sixth chapter in "The Escapes of Winnie Ruth Judd" was especially harrasing to Dr. Conway.

"I don't think anyone has tried harder to hold this woman than we have," he said as the search went on. "But you can't hold that type of woman in a paper sack."

He said that after her last escape Mrs. Judd was placed in the hospital's strongest ward but even those facilities were inadequate. Dr. Conway said he was going to ask the Legislature to provide funds to erect a building for a full-security criminal ward.

Winnie is so wily that she made her getaway under the closest scrutiny. Dr. Conway said he had been suspicious of her for the last two or three weeks because she had become quiet and bitter and had stopped writing her customary letters.

The doctor had inspected the escape window Wednesday and "gave it a good thumping" without discovering the sawing. He expressed the opinion she had been cutting on the screen for two or three months and hiding the sawed wires with chewing gum.

There are only two cranks in each ward for the glass windows. They are kept under lock. But Winnie had one, even though both cranks assigned to her ward still were in place.

After Mrs. Judd escaped last February she was allowed to tell her story of the old killings to the county grand jury. The jury recommended that her death sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. On further recommendation by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles, Gov. Howard Pyle approved the commutation.

He just returned early last week from a three months trip — his 17th around the world as export manager for the Studebaker Corp., visiting dealers in many nations. After that he made a quick trip to South America, spent two days with his daughter and her husband in New York City and then came here for Turkey Day.

He will remain in the country for the introduction of the new 1953 Studebaker models in New York, then leave about Jan. 10 for the introduction of the line in London, Paris and Brussels, being gone about three months.

Jaycees Revamp Yule Decorations After Wind Plays Hob With Their First Attempt

Did you ever get all dressed up and have a car pass by you and splash you with mud? Did you ever get the house cleaned up nice and bright and have the furnace or stove smoke everywhere? Did you ever spend a lot of time making something and then drop it and break it?

Then you know just how the members of the Jaycees felt who had put up the Christmas decorations and just about as soon as they got them up — maybe they hadn't even finished — the wind came along and blew them down. It hadn't been any fun putting those long strings of pine across the street — these fellows who aren't used to climbing around on ladders and buildings in the cold, but they had asked to do it so that they money saved by putting them up could be used to give Sedalia a real nice Santa Claus parade — they kind that everybody has come into town to see from every place around as well as the people in town — for the past two years.

It was a sad picture the committee in charge of decorating the town looked at after the high wind. They shook their heads and picked up the pine branches scattered everywhere. Most of us would have probably thrown the decorations in the trash can and gone over and sat down in a dark corner, but not the Jaycees. The committee members, headed by Donald Richardson and Jim Durely, co-chairmen, sat down and talked things over. The pine was strung on string which would rot or break easily. If they tried to put them up again it would likely be down from another wind or ice storm before Santa got here. Anyway, it wouldn't look good — so what could be done?

Well, the boys decided to wind the greenery around the lamp posts and hang a wreath on each side of the light. They tried one post — got off and looked at it — and thought it looked real nice. Then they looked at it again after the lights were on and it showed up pretty good. Of course they are having to buy a little more pine as some of it was lost, but they are salvaging what they can and using it to good advantage.

Then somebody had another idea. They would use the rest of the decorations, too. There are 112 flag holders along the business district — they would put rods in them and securely attach the decorations that usually hang from the center of the green roping.

The strings of lights will still be across the streets. The Jaycees have let a contract for that and they aren't worrying about it.

The boys sincerely hope people will like their decorations — they have tried so hard — they are having to do all the decorating over again and pay out more money for it, but some of the merchants say they think they will like the new manner of decorating better.

The money was turned over to the Jaycees for the decorations by the Chamber of Commerce, because the Junior Chamber of Commerce wanted to use the sum for a parade, too.

The Chamber of Commerce is planning effective decorations on the courthouse, with lighted Christmas trees.

Chest Drive Still $9,000 Short of Goal

Chm. W. A. Smith Urges Those Missed Make Contributions

The 1952 Community Chest Drive is still $9,000 short of its goal, W. A. Smith, general chairman, advised the division chairmen at a meeting on Wednesday night.

"We must urge everyone who has not contributed, or who wishes to increase his contribution, to phone the Community Chest office, phone 995, and ask for a worker to pick up the contribution," said Mr. Smith. The chairmen of the most of the divisions have done a wonderful job, but we are still $9,000 short of our goal and everything possible must be done to bring in the overlooked firms and individuals."

T. H. Yount, chairman of the Community Chest board, presided over the meeting and called for reports from all present. Mrs. John Welch, chairman of the county division, reported a total of $1,259.70 collector. P. Cecil Owen, chairman of the downtown division, said that his 27 workers had turned in their reports, and that a few firms and individuals who had been missed by the workers would be visited on Friday and Saturday by a "mop-up squad" of senior Girl Scouts.

Prof. J. B. Hylick, chairman of the North Side division, expected to finish his report by Monday and said that it would exceed the 1951 total.

Following the division meeting, members of the nominating committee, recently appointed by the board of directors, met and named 14 members to be placed on a ballot for the election of seven board members. Ballots will be mailed to the membership within a week.

Koreans Believe Ike Will Drive Reds to Manchuria

SEOUL (P)—Millions of South Koreans seem to think U. S. President-elect Eisenhower is going to drive the Chinese Communists back into Manchuria.

Clarence Rye, official government spokesman, put it this way: "Gen. Eisenhower represents the last great hope of our 22 million people. Ask any man on the street and he will tell you he believes Eisenhower will drive the Chinese Reds completely out of Korea. So the sentiment of welcome here is a strong and stirring thing."

For a fourth straight day, Seoul bubbled with anticipation. More banners than ever splashed across buildings and the gutted skeletons of buildings. Closely spaced national and metropolitan police guarded main thoroughfares.

"Won't the Korean people get a little tired of parading and practicing every day for Ike's welcome?"

"Not a bit," Rye said. "They like it. This is a big, spontaneous thing and the fun feeling of welcome is growing all the time. The people are working themselves up to a great climax."

War-weary Koreans, generally shabby and destitute, have prepared a remarkable convincing greeting.

From 38th parallel to Pusan, this country blossoms with signs and banners.

Dewey Smith Here For Turkey--

Flies In From 17th 'Round World Trip To Visit Parents

When Dewey W. Smith and his wife paid a Thanksgiving visit here to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Smith, 405 West Fifth, it was probably the shortest trip, in miles, that the younger Smith has made in a long time.

He just returned early last week from a three months trip — his 17th around the world as export manager for the Studebaker Corp., visiting dealers in many nations. After that he made a quick trip to South America, spent two days with his daughter and her husband in New York City and then came here for Turkey Day.

He will remain in the country for the introduction of the new 1953 Studebaker models in New York, then leave about Jan. 10 for the introduction of the line in London, Paris and Brussels, being gone about three months.

The 54-year-old Smith, who always wears a red carnation and never permits a hat to cover his white hair, has been with Studebaker for 25 years, but only three of them were spent at his office in South Bend, Ind. The others were spent in practically every country in the world. He must keep in contact with 1,500 dealers and 12 assembly plants abroad.

"And with our overseas sales growing," he said, "things seem to get busier every trip I take."

Some of those travels have been entertaining, too. He can show you pictures taken of tiger hunts with Indian maharajahs, pictures with Japanese wrestling champions and Spanish matadors. He said he still holds the trans-India automobile speed record set in 1929.

Not all the memories are so pleasant. In 1942 he was captured by the Japanese in Manila and spent three years and two months in the Los Banos prison camp. (Please turn to Page 4, Column 5)

T&C Expands By Opening Slater Plant

Will Be Fourth Factory Operated From Sedalia Office

The Town and Country Shoe Company, in an expansion move, is to have a factory at Slater, in addition to the ones here, at Warrensburg and Odessa. It will also be under the jurisdiction of the Sedalia headquarters.

The campaign to raise the money necessary to erect a building of 20,000 square feet for the Town and Country Shoe Company plant there probably will not start until after the first of the year.

Meanwhile Town and Country is moving in equipment to open a plant around the first of the year in the building on Main Street in Slater commonly known as the Rock Barn.

Heavy equipment was unloaded this week and the company announced it would send a load every day for the next five days. Five machines were unloaded the first of afternoon including sewing machines and a nailing machine.

The Rock Barn is owned by the Slater Industrial Development Corporation of which Harrie Silken is president. It was Mr. Silken's opinion that the campaign to raise money for a factory building would not start until after the first of the year. However, he said that time has not been set by the development corporation's board and there might be some change from the present plan.

Company officials have said they hope to be able to start operating with 125 employees around Jan. 1. It is the shoe company's desire later, when the building has been erected to increase its number of employees at Slater to around 400 as a maximum.

FBI Subpoenas Thomas Luchese, 10-Day Fugitive

WASHINGTON (P)—An FBI agent today succeeded in serving Thomas "Three-Finger" Brown Luchese with papers in the government's suit to strip him of American citizenship. He had been sought for ten days.

The Justice Department announced that Luchese, who disappeared after the denaturalization suit was filed last week, was served in the New York office of his attorney, Louis D. Frohlich.

Frohlich had telephoned the FBI that his client was ready to accept service of the suit.

A special court order had been obtained to authorize service of the papers by the FBI. The order was issued by the U. S. District Court in New York City.

Luchese had been unable to locate Luchese.

36 Die In Crash Of Plane

Military Craft From Alaska Down In Flames Early Today Near Tacoma

TACOMA, Wash. (P)—A four-engine military plane from Alaska crashed in flames in a field south of here shortly after midnight and 36 of the 39 aboard were believed dead.

While scattered fires still marked the scene of the post-holiday tragedy, Deputy Pierce County Coroner Larry Amundsen said 36 were dead or missing.

The plane carried servicemen and dependents. The bodies of four babies were among those found scattered at the scene of the disaster.

At least two witnesses to the tragedy said the plane was afire as it "whooshed" down to a tree-flanked field about a mile from its destination at McChord Air Force Base.

Capt. Jack Easley, public information officer at McChord, said the early reports to the base indicated the plane struck a tree while coming in through the heavy fog for a ground-control approach landing.

All but a section of the tail was destroyed in the resulting fire and explosion. Bodies were scattered over 200 feet from the wreckage.

The crash added to the toll of a disastrous three weeks for military transport aviation around the North Pacific rim.

If the death toll stands at 36 in today's crash, it makes a total of 198 dead or presumed dead along the arc from Korea to Alaska to McChord and Montana. The total includes 91 on three big transports in Alaska, 55 in two Korea crashes, eight in Montana and eight in a Canadian crash on Vancouver Island.

McChord Base reported the transport, a C-54, was circling for an approach to the field when the disaster struck.

Art Getchman, 18, who was driving nearby, and Philip Bol-den, a McChord taxi driver who said the plane flew low over his home, were the witnesses who said the plane appeared to be afire.

Getchman thought there was fire in an engine on the left side. Bol-den said it "looked like the entire right wing was afire."

Both said the plane was extremely low.

Getchman told a reporter: "I couldn't hear the motors. It was just a big whoosh."

"I thought it was a meteor," he added. "It just seemed to slide into the ground."

The manifest listed 18 military passengers, 14 civilians and a crew of seven. Capt. Easley reported.

The only known survivors in Tacoma hospitals early today were: Airman Bobby Wilson, Great Falls, Mont., head injury, internal injuries and bruises.

At Alaskan boy who was listed as Joseph Icoavitt, eight, broken legs and burns.

First witnesses at the scene said they could hear the cries of a baby in the burning wreckage. They were helpless to do anything about it.

Many of the passengers were returning to the states for the year-end holidays. The C-54 left Fairbanks at Elmendorf Base at Anchorage, then flew the 1,400 miles to McChord.

Ironically, only the fog kept the plane's occupants from seeing the lights and safety of the big McChord field before the crash.

The crash scene was strewn with personal belongings. Hats and clothes were thrown about the field in disarray. Some were partially burned.

Most of the fire was in the forward part of the plane. The tail section and about half the fuselage remained almost intact after being ripped apart by the death-dealing blast.

Ill Driver's Back Fractured In Two Places

Earl J. Taylor, 69, Grain Valley, is in a critical condition from injuries suffered in an automobile accident 14 miles west of Sedalia on Highway 65 at the South Thompson curve. The accident occurred about 3:25 p. m. Thursday.

Mr. Taylor was driving his own car and was alone when he suffered a heart attack and lost control of his automobile, a 1941 De Soto sedan. Mr. Taylor's car went to the right shoulder of the pavement, then swerved back left across the pavement, struck an embankment throwing him out of the car. The car then went end over end and landed on top of Mr. Taylor.

Passing motorists stopped and lifted the car off him and made him as comfortable as possible until the Parker ambulance from La Monte arrived and took him to the Bothwell Hospital, where Dr. A. L. Lowe rendered medical treatment and had x-ray pictures taken.

Mr. Taylor suffered two fractures of the back, possible internal injuries and his condition is considered critical.

Mr. Taylor was coming to Sedalia to the home of a sister-in-law, Mrs. J. E. Wajle, 1423 South Sneed, where Mrs. Taylor was visiting.

MYF District Booth Festivals Have Contributions of $2,600

The Sedalia District Methodist Youth Fellowship, under the guidance and leadership of the Rev. M. E. Williamson, Smithton, youth director, and Miss LaDonna Olson, Sedalia, youth president, held its annual Booth Festivals at Warsaw and Windsor Nov. 17 and 18.

Methodist Youth Fellowships of the various Methodist Churches of the Sedalia District gathered supplies and cash to create valuable and attractive booths which were later presented to The Methodist Home for the Aged, Marionville, and The Methodist Children's Home, St. Louis.

Blue, red, and white ribbons of recognition for their work were presented by the district president, Miss Olson, to the winning MYF booths for valuation and for originality and attractiveness.

The winners at Warsaw were: 1. Valuation — 1st place, the Cole Camp MYF, with a total value of $135.22, 2nd place, Versailles MYF — total value of $115, 3rd place, the Warsaw MYF — total value of $100.00.

1. Originality and attractiveness — 1st place, Ionia MYF, 2nd place, Cole Camp MYF, 3rd place, Cross Timbers MYF.

The winning MYF at Windsor were: 1. Valuation — 1st place, the Smithton MYF with a total booth value of $315.82, 2nd place, the First Methodist Church MYF, Sedalia, total value of $236.77, and 3rd place, the Epworth MYF, Sedalia, total value of $233.

1. Originality and attractiveness — 1st place went to the Housatonia MYF, 2nd place to the La Monte MYF, and 3rd place to the La Monte MYF.

Twenty-nine local Methodist Youth fellowships participated in these Booth Festivals with more than 370 youths and counselors attending. The total value of supplies and cash contributed to the above named Methodist institutions was slightly less than $2600, which was another record event for the Sedalia District Methodist Youths.

At Warsaw the evening program was climaxed by a singingspiration led by a youth, Richard Thompson of Springfield, who is the South-west Missouri Conference MYF president and also the South Central Jurisdictional MYF president. At Windsor the evening program was brought to an appropriate close by a brief, challenging devotional message given by a youth, Keith Berry, Ionia, who is also the president of the Broomfield MYF Zone.

Following the MYF singingspiration, which was led by Miss Olson, the youth of the Churches went to their respective communities, challenged to render greater service to their God, their Church, and their community under the banner and motto of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, "Christ Above All."

TB Death Rate Materially Cut

Today in the United States some one dies from tuberculosis every 17 1/2 minutes and it will go on that way unless something is done to prevent it.

But 45 years ago one American died of TB every 3 1/2 minutes — until something was done about it.

The money made possible x-ray campaigns to find TB early, medical research, rehabilitation, health education — and so today the death rate is cut — and the buying of Christmas seals will help to make it less and less each year — until someday it may be stamped out forever.

Human Skull 8,500 Years Old Found In the Jordan Valley

JEERUSALEM — A human skull about 8,500 years old and the remains of a necklace made of small seashells have been found at Sha'ar Hagolan in the Jordan Valley by Israel Exploration Society excavators under the direction of Dr. Moshe Stekels of the Hebrew University.

Sha'ar Hagolan is a collective settlement (kibbutz) on the banks of the Yarmuk River near the point where Syria and Jordan meet on Israel's eastern frontier.

It was here two years ago that Dr. Stekels uncovered the remains of a stone age culture which he named the Yarmukian civilization. The skull was found early this month near an open hearth. The remains of a fire used by this Neolithic man were still visible.

Each of the seashells that made up the Yarmukian necklace had a tiny hole bored in its apex for stringing. The shells are identical with those found on the shore of the Mediterranean today.

Dr. Stekels is completing a short excavation season in which he has determined the stratification of this site as divided between the Early and Middle Bronze Ages and the Neolithic period. At the upper level he found a courtyard surrounded by chambers with a good deal of pottery typical of the Early and Middle Bronze Ages. The Neolithic fireplace was found five feet deeper, surrounded by the bones of gazelle-like animals.

Several hundred small sharp-pointed flints were found in one spot. This large concentration of tools, which were either arrowheads or small boring instruments, indicate a specialization of skills. One family would have used only a few flint spears, arrows and other such tools.

The new finds will considerably enrich Sha'ar Hagolan's prehistoric museum, which already contains, in what originally was a bomb shelter, one of the largest collections of stone age tools, flints and primitive stone carvings in any museum anywhere.

Elements of the Good Life

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

What is the conception of the good life, the best life of all, as we see it set forth and exemplified in the teaching and example of Jesus?

Does that conception of the good life differ in any way from conceptions commonly held and stressed at various times, in various places by professed followers of the Master?

I think the answer to the second question is: Yes. Though there are profound and striking exceptions, there have been many followers of Jesus inspired by him, who have lived lives of conspicuous devotion and service. In our own time there have been men like Father Damien of Molokai, and Sir Wilfred Grenfell of Labrador; women like Jane Addams of Chicago, and their name, in spite of all the shortcomings of professed Christians, has been legion; for many unknown to fame, have not been unknown to God for their sincerity and goodness.

But in general the emphasis in historic Christianity and the church has been negative, rather than positive. It has been upon sins, rather than upon the great, positive expressions and acts of righteousness and truth.

If one doubts this, he need only make wide observation of life, to see how many lives of "good" men and women, well-intentioned and free from evil, are none the less inconspicuous for evidence of the "fruit of the Spirit" (Galatians 5:22-23).

The thirteenth chapter of I Corinthians, next to the Sermon on the Mount, the greatest sermon ever written in its simplicity, conciseness, and brevity, makes plain the nature of the good life as the Apostle Paul learned it from his Master.

This is the conception of the good life that Jesus emphasized in all that He said and did. The spirit of all His teaching and example was: "This do, and thou shalt live." It is surprising how little "do not" is found in the Gospel record of His sayings.

* Perhaps the conspicuous examples, in fact, of Jesus saying "do not" did not relate to sins and actions, but to the fundamental things of character and spirit: in prayer, He said, do not use vain repetitions "as the heathen do" (Matthew 6:7); and He said "do not" after the works of the Scribes and Pharisees, "for they say and do not" (Matthew 23:3).

In the positive emphasis upon the good life, such as Jesus made, there is no danger that there will be less inhibition against sin and sins.

The positive attuning of the heart to truth and righteousness is, in fact, the surest guarantee that one's life will be inwardly and outwardly correct. A world concentrating more upon righteousness and the spirit and acts of love will be correspondingly, a world freer from sin and evil.

11 Ex-Reds Face Death From Czechs

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Eleven former Czechoslovak Communist leaders—including architects of the coup that swept their country into the Soviet orbit—today faced death on the gallows as confessed traitors.

Heading the list as convicted ringleaders in a "Zionist-Trotskyist" plot to overthrow their pro-Moscow government, are Rudolf Slansky, former secretary general of the Czech Communist party, and former Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis. All but three of the 11 are Jews.

Three other Jewish co-defendants were given life prison sentences yesterday at the close of a week-long public trial in Prague—a trial marked by virulent anti-Semitism and an obvious attempt to blame the group for Czechoslovakia's failure to fulfill Russian requisitions for supplies and war materials.

The court explained its leniency in the case of the three spared from death by saying that one of them had helped to implicate the group and the three were "merely links" in the alleged pro-Western conspiracy of treason, sabotage and espionage.

The sentences were announced by Prague radio. Those named to die with Slansky and Clementis included:

Bedrich Geminder, 51, once the Kremlin's agent in Prague and former head of the Communist party's international affairs section; Andre Simon, 57, former editor of the party newspaper Rude Reicin, 41, former deputy defense minister.

The prosecution had demanded the death penalty for all 14. All had confessed at length to charges in a 14,000-word indictment and were convicted of planning "to liquidate the peoples' democratic system, to restore capitalism, tear Czechoslovakia from its firm alliance with the Soviet Union and take it into the camp of imperialism."

The convicted men accepted their sentences. This indicated they would not appeal and the 11 soon would be hanged in Prague's grey-walled Pankraz Prison.

President Klement Gottwald still must approve the sentences but since the prisoners allegedly plotted his murder, Gottwald is not expected to show mercy.

Throughout the trial the alleged plot was described as "Zionist-inspired," leaving the obvious implication of a still wider crackdown on Jews behind the Iron Curtain. The Israeli Parliament has denounced the trial and Western Jewish organizations have expressed resentment.

Of those sentenced to be hanged only Clementis, Frank and Svab are non-Jews.

Western diplomats suggested that the trial set the stage for similar proceedings in other Soviet satellite countries. Romania's Jewish former foreign minister, Ana Pauker, or Poland's former Deputy Premier Wladislaw Gomułka were mentioned as possibly the next principal defendants.

These diplomats said the Communists, in staging the trial, apparently aimed at winning friends for the Soviet world among the Arab people through the attacks on Jews and the state of Israel. The court proceedings also served as a warning to Communists everywhere that the Kremlin will not permit the slightest deviation from its policies and warned thousands of Jews in high posts in other Red satellite nations to watch their step.

Boy Returns From Ride On Outside of Train

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—Twelve-year-old Philip Quick was back home today, none the worse for his jaunt on the outside of a speeding Lehigh Valley Railroad train.

A chaf on the train heard a pounding on the side of his dining car last night, shortly after the train had left here for Geneva, 35 miles north of this city in Central New York.

He pulled young Quick to safety from the lad's perch on a ladder on the side of the car. The railroad returned the boy home on the next train—on the inside.

Study Value Of Pound, May Bring to Par

LONDON (U)—Their formal greeting speeches behind them, the British Commonwealth's prime ministers and their deputies plunged today into the hard facts of the world's finance and trade. The pound sterling—permitted its holders to buy dollars or any other currency freely—was expected to be the major item of discussion at today's meeting of the Commonwealth's top officials and their aides assembled here for a two-week conference. The conversations, however, were not expected to produce any decision to free the pound any time soon.

At last night's opening his colleagues after a discussion of general questions of procedure, Churchill's office announced that two committees were being set up to start the real work of the meeting.

One will deal with development of nation's industry and agriculture and their policies on commodities, the other with world-wide finance and trade. Membership of the two committees will be largely identical.

Finance and trade were topics for today's session.

Meeting with Churchill are Prime Ministers Dudley Senanayake of Ceylon, Sidney G. Holland of New Zealand, Khwaja Nazimuddin of Pakistan and Sir Godfrey Huggins of Southern Rhodesia.

South Africa's Daniel F. Malan is represented by his Deputy Prime Minister N. C. Havenga, while Indian Finance Minister Sir C. H. Deshmukh is deputizing for Jawaharlal Nehru. Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton speaks for Britain's farflung colonies.

The ministers seek to work out a program of steps to be taken immediately to put the Commonwealth on a paying basis—selling enough abroad to pay for what the nations must import—and a long-range plan to ease the flow of world trade, particularly between the dollar and non-dollar countries.

The conference—first of its kind since 1932—became necessary because the Commonwealth of more than 500 million people is spending far more than it earns, the result of war damages, overspending and cold war costs.

The officials were expected to wind up with a tough program of reduced expenses—less roads, schools, hospitals, harder living—and higher and more efficient production, especially of food.

Their long-term aims are expected to include a strengthening of the pound, eventual freedom to convert it to other currencies and a vast international banking and investment system, a sort of Atlantic Payments Union modeled on the European Payments Union.

Train Stops to Let Fox Chase Continue

CHURSTON FERRERS, Eng. (U)—A passenger train pulled up for an unscheduled stop near here yesterday to let a hare—that oversized European rabbit—cross the tracks.

Right behind came the hounds, and then 12 riders from this neck of South Devon.

Once the chase had passed, the train went on its way.

The hare got away.

ST. LOUIS (U)—The body of Basilio Serati, 76-year-old retired coal miner who has been missing since Oct. 18, was found yesterday on a vacant lot.

'Cowboy' Kills Fox

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (U)—William (Wild Bill) Goerger, 9, was hunting Indians in his back yard yesterday but had to settle for a fox instead.

The animal grabbed the boy's trouser leg so young Bill whipped out his toy cap pistols and clubbed it to death.

Mrs. William Goerger Sr., the boy's mother said "I could hardly believe it" when Bill ran screaming to tell of the battle.

A fox is not common here.

GIs Give Buddy's Mother Great Day to Give Thanks

NORTH FT. HOOD, Tex. (U)—and wished she could visit him. The little private's mother, his sister and nephew spent the night in the unaccustomed splendor of a hotel in nearby Temple, Tex., last night.

Today they were to board a bus for Mesilla, N. M., and home—a three-day trip into happiness with Pvt. Pedro Lopez and his buddies of the Fourth Training Company, a never-to-be-forgotten memory.

Mrs. Refugio Gonzales the guest for Thanksgiving Day of the company at Ft. Hood, home of the rough, tough and ready First Armored Division.

She and her daughter, Mrs. Magie Lopez, and Mrs. Lopez's 4-year-old son, Johnny, had turkey dinner with Pedro and his buddies yesterday at their mess hall.

A scrub cedar tree, decorated clumsily by the dough-faces, made tears well into the brown eyes of Mrs. Gonzales as she gave her "gracias" for this Thanksgiving, Christmas and all her holidays rolled into one.

Pedro's buddies, all of them on their meager private's pay, put a dent into their "leave money" to bring Pedro's mother here for Thanksgiving. They also chipped in to buy the little woman a new outfit. And ungrudgingly they did it again for a bouquet of red roses presented her yesterday.

It all began when the little mother—who speaks no English—received a form letter from Maj. Gen. Bruce C. Clarke, Ft. Hood commander. He was "pleased to inform you that your son has arrived at Ft. Hood for training with the famed First Armored Division."

Somebody read the letter to the frail little mother...translating as they read. She was glad, she said.

Astor Bequeaths Almost 3 Million To Son and Wife

LONDON (U)—The late Viscount Astor bequeathed virtually all his 974,700 pounds ($2,729,160) British estate to his eldest son and his Virginia-born wife, Lady Nancy Astor. The government, however, will take more than half—509,183 pounds ($1,425,712) death duties.

The New York-born British publisher and racehorse owner, who died Sept. 30, left many millions more in an American estate, the size of which has not been announced. The income from this was bequeathed to his four sons and one daughter in a will filed for probate in New York, Oct. 27.

The viscount's British will was filed here yesterday. It ordered administrators of the estate to pay Lady Astor, the first woman to sit in Parliament, as much as they considered necessary to meet her "adequate requirements."

She also received the 53 1/2 carat Sancy Diamond—a gem with a long history as a royal treasure—and other family jewels in trust for life, as well as three homes in England.

Except for several smaller bequests to his four younger children and several other persons, the remainder of the British estate goes to Lord Astor's eldest son, the third viscount.

The World Today— Sign Own Death Warrants

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — The confessions of the 14 former Czechoslovak Communist leaders in open court revive an old question first brought up during the Moscow trials of the old Bolsheviks in the 1930s.

Why do people on trial in Communist countries trot in like sheep and denounce themselves in open court with confessions they must know will send them to prison or to death?

This habit, so common among people brought to trial in Communist countries, has never been generally practiced by Communists this side of the curtain.

When the leaders of the American Communist party, for example, were tried in New York a couple of years ago they not only confessed nothing but seemingly tried to make the trial a nightmare for the judge and the government.

They were aided in this by the difference in legal systems. Here, where a man has to be proven guilty, their lawyers were in court to defend them. In Prague it is the obligation of the defense lawyers to help on the prosecution. In a book still talked about—Arthur Koestler's "Darkness at Noon"—an attempt was made to explain why a veteran Communist who had fallen from grace would condemn himself for offenses he did not commit.

The explanation, in brief, went like this: No matter how rotten he might think Stalin's leadership, the most important thing to the accused Communist was the eventual triumph of world communism.

Therefore, instead of publicly condemning the regime which he earnestly thought was ruining communism, he would publicly condemn himself for the sake of the party and his hope that maybe it could win out in the end.

There are probably other less idealistic but more practical explanations for the trial confessions.

Hypnotism has been suggested as one. Police terror sounds more likely, either through torture to extract compliance or threats of punishment for the accused man's family and friends if he didn't confess in open court.

(Karl Radek, old Bolshevik and journalist, provided the classic example of the absurdity of these confessions during his Moscow trial in 1937. He made an extraordinary admission, undoubtedly with tongue in cheek, since he was said to be sardonic.

(Radek said he pleaded guilty not only to all the crimes of which he stood accused but to all those of which he might be accused. He was reported to have been let off

Gen. Clay Is Ike's Kingmaker

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright 1952 By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON — Some of the commentators covering Ike may not realize it, but they have been watching the wrong kingmaker around the president — elect. For the man who had the biggest voice in selecting Ike's cabinet was not Governor Dewey nor Senator Taft, but the former American Commander of Berlin — Gen. Lucius Clay.

While Ike was puzzling over his future cabinet at Augusta, Ga., Clay was attending a meeting of big industrialists not far away at Sea Island, Ga. Throughout the conference, Clay shuttled back and forth between Augusta and Sea Island, huddling first with Eisenhower, then putting his head together with the industrialists, then slipping back to see Eisenhower again.

It was at Sea Island that Clay first approached General Motors' big boss, Charlie Wilson, and asked him how he would like to be secretary of defense. Clay also picked the new secretary of the treasury, steel mogul George Humphrey, who hails from Ohio but was not recommended by Taft. The man Taft suggested to Eisenhower for the treasury post was Senator Byrd of Virginia.

Even Ike's new secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, though hailed as Dewey's choice, actually was recommended by Clay. Inside story is that the ex-military boss of Berlin has turned into a conservative big businessman since he settled his Army uniform and board chairman of Continental Can.

When Clay recommended Dulles as secretary of state, however, even Senator Taft, the champion of the conservatives was privately delighted. One of Taft's ex-campaign managers told this column: "Dulles is now much closer to Taft than Dewey."

with a 10-year prison term. Some of his co-confessors were shot. In the Prague trial the Communists in power tipped their hands wide open on a question which has long been debated but has never had such supporting evidence.

The trial was outright anti-Jewish. Eleven of the 14 accused men were Jews. They were accused of conspiring with Jews in Israel and the United States. Perhaps the accused men were persuaded to confess under threats of violence against all Jews in Czechoslovakia.

If that was the reason the sacrifices—11 were sentenced to the gallows, three to life imprisonment—seem to have been in vain. A wave of Jewish suicides was reported as the trial neared its end and a reliable source said anti-Jewish attacks had begun.

There is an interesting question which can't be answered: Do these trials chill the enthusiasm of American Communists? They must realize from these examples that the life of a Communist leader is in more danger when his own party is in power, as in Eastern Europe, than when it isn't, as here.

At the Sea Island meeting of industrialists, General Clay spoke little officially, mingled much with business leaders. Taking the rostrum for one off — the record, eight — minute talk, Clay cautiously predicted:

"I cannot speak for General Eisenhower, but I believe it is the General's understanding that defense spending will continue at the present high rate for at least another year."

He explained that the money was already committed, could not be cut down. However, he promised that the new appropriations would be "lessened," permitting "some tax cuts not too far away."

He warned that the years ahead would be serious, but better years for business.

Truman Cools
Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark, once the favorite of President Truman, is favorite no more. A year ago he was invited to sit in the President's box at the Army-Navy game. But not today.

Reason for the coolness is Clark's opinion against the government in the White House seizure of the steel industry during the steel strike. Clark, who had been lifted from relative obscurity to be Truman's attorney general and later supreme court justice, held that Truman's action against the steel industry was illegal.

Since then the President has remarked that Clark's opinion "appeared to Stalin more than it did to me."

"He is the sourceless," says the President, "that Bob Hannegan dropped in my lap."

Ike's Press Conferences
The question of whether Eisenhower will continue the present system of press conferences came up inadvertently at Mamie's recent birthday party at which several newsmen were present.

Merriman Smith, who has covered the White House for years, inquired of the General: "May I ask an unusual question?"

Eisenhower nodded assent. "Are you going to hold regular press conferences?"

"I have thought over a lot of problems," Eisenhower replied, "but I just haven't got around to that one yet."

At this point Ed Folliard, veteran White House correspondent for The Washington Post, which is Professor Folliard's home, asked:

"Haven't you held press conferences in Paris where you made a statement with the understanding that no questions were to be asked?"

Eisenhower said he couldn't remember any such conferences. Folliard went on to recall that Eisenhower had held press conferences of this nature at Paris during the war, but Eisenhower countered that Lord Tedder of the British Royal Air Force had once attended one of his conferences at The Hotel Scribe, and remarked afterward on the free exchange of questions.

Eisenhower went on to say that he doesn't like to hold press conferences unless he has something to say.

Murder she yelled

By Joseph Shallit

XXXV
I EXPLAINED to Midge: "You can picture Al's reaction, catching Eddie at the safe. He'd blow his top for sure at a ratty trick like that. It isn't hard to see Al grabbing the first thing that came to hand and bopping him, Eddie, very woody, must have managed to snatch the ax out of his hands, and when Al charged him again, Eddie swung. In desperation, Eddie's no lion. He must have been appalled when he saw what he'd done. And starting to collapse from the blow he'd gotten. Concession sometimes doesn't get you all at once. Eddie could have been down on the floor by now, but still conscious enough to do what was needed to make it look like robbery. He crawled to Al, emptied his pockets and his own, snatched the ax handle clean, then started to crawl to the door to holler for help. But unconsciousness hit him at the door—the way I found him."

"Then—then if that's the case, the stuff from their pockets had to be hidden here—it must still be here."

"Hey—you've got an idea! That would prove it, one way or the other."

I placed a person-to-person call to Bart Jamison in New York. I waited.

"Ready with New York," the operator said.

"Hello," I said, "this is Eddie Fields."

Bart Jamison's voice was big, expansive, exhilarated. "Glad to hear from you, Fields! Glad to hear from you."

"Same here," I said, slurring my words, keeping the pitch high. "What's the situation?"

"Situation? Didn't you get my letter?"

"Haven't seen any letter yet."

"What've you got out there—pony express?"

"Well, tell me—what's in it?"

Finally, Jim Hagerty interrupted to suggest that the conversation return to a purely social basis.

NOTE — Merriman Smith's question was prompted by continuing reports that Eisenhower will abandon the present system of White House press conferences whereby any question may be asked of the president, and that he will adopt a system of written questions. Though he didn't seem to remember it, Eisenhower actually permitted no oral questioning by the press while he was in Paris last year. He also held no on — the record press conferences during the latter part of the campaign.

Oil And Dynamite
Ambassador Loy Henderson has been flown back from Iran in order to give a personal report on the crucial near East situation to Sen. Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, trouble — shooter for General Eisenhower.

Secretary Acheson felt that the Iranian situation was so dangerous that Eisenhower should have a first — hand report.

Acheson himself told Eisenhower collapsing. "Eddie, pal, how are you?" I babbled.

He hooked a chair with his foot and dragged it against the door. He looked pale and shaky. "You been trying to fix me ever since this got started. Now you think you did it, don't you?"

THE hand with the gun was in his lap, the muzzle aimed at my face. The desk was between us. Midge stood beside me, rigid, quivering.

"You think I'm a killer," Eddie said dully. "I'm no killer—you ought to know that, Morrison. He hit me first with that ax. I was only trying to protect myself."

"Why didn't you tell that to the cops?"

"What good would it have done?" He shook his head weakly. "Nobody would believe Al would slug me with an ax just out of meanness. I would've had to come out with why he hit me—that I was doing in the office—and then they'd have me with a first-degree case, all wrapped up."

"How did you ever let yourself get into such a mess?"

He said nothing for a while. Then his eyes slowly narrowed, glinting. "Watched his hands," he waited for me to take that in. "Watched him open it one night—from outside the window. Binoculars. Shade was almost down—he couldn't see me. . . . Eddie's lips got tight. "If Al had only come across with what I asked for," he said bitterly. "I had fifteen hundred from changing Rocky's dough—all I needed was sixty-five hundred more to send that guy you were just talking to. That's all I asked Al for in that note—not a nickel more than I needed. It was small change to him."

Taft Planning Some Revision Of T-H Law

WASHINGTON — Sen. Taft of Ohio is planning some changes next year in the long-disputed labor-management relations law that bears his name.

Two of the amendments are expected to meet specific objections voiced to the Taft-Hartley law by President-elect Eisenhower.

An aide to the Ohio Republican said today that considerable drafting work already has been done on the amendments.

Many of them will be similar to the 28 changes which passed the Senate in 1949 but stalled in the House. Taft says the 1949 amendments died because the unions wanted repeal or nothing and felt repeal had a chance under a Democratic administration. He is said to believe that the unions will be more co-operative in the 1953 session, which will be Republican-controlled.

Despite his willingness to re-write portions of the law, Taft is insistent that its basic principles be left unchanged.

The two changes favored by Eisenhower and planned by Taft are: A requirement that company officials take the non-Communist oath if they wish to use the act, as union officials now are required to do.

Removal of the ban on voting in a representation election by strikers who have been replaced in their jobs. Eisenhower has called this a possible "union-busting" feature. Taft does not agree but says the amendment is desirable anyway.

Taft says he has no intention now of pushing for one change which organized labor would fight bitterly—a ban on company or industry bargaining on a nation-wide basis.

Taft will be in position to speed and guide the revision of the Taft-Hartley Act as chairman of the Senate Labor Committee. He held this post in the 80th Congress, when the law was passed over President Truman's veto, and has indicated he will take it again.

Sen. Morse of Oregon, also on the labor committee, told a reporter today he would be glad to co-operate in a re-working of the law which he long had assailed. He said he could support a revision patterned on the 1949 amendments if Taft modified his stand on injunctions and secondary boycotts.

Morse bolted the Republican party and backed Democratic nominee Adlai Stevenson in the presidential campaign, declaring himself an independent in the Senate.

The injunction is a key feature of the controversial Taft-Hartley law section aimed at national emergency strikes.

Under the section, the government can obtain an 80-day injunction to prevent a strike if the national safety is imperiled. If a settlement is not reached in that period, the union then can go ahead and walk out.

Taft says he is inclined to leave this national emergency provision alone for the present. He says that it is not perfect but that it never has had the benefit of "sympathetic" administration.

Morse said in the interview he remained convinced that the seizure bill he sponsored unsuccessfully in the 1952 session was the best answer to national emergency labor disputes.

It would leave the 80-day "cooling-off" feature in the law but also would give the president a choice for seizing an industry for 60 days to prevent a disastrous strike. The 60-day period could be extended only by act of Congress. One of the amendments planned by Taft was said to be designed to "cure inequities" and "close loopholes" in the law's section on secondary boycotts.

A secondary boycott occurs when a union strikes against an employer, then attempts to prevent

Airman Cites Navy 'Publicity Stunt' Over Use of Missiles

WASHINGTON — President Arthur F. Kelly of the Air Force Association charged today the Navy pulled off the "publicity stunt of the year" last September in reporting the combat use of guided missiles.

Writing in Air Force Magazine, an unofficial publication, Kelly cited news stories he said described as "the first take-off of a guided missile in actual combat" the bombing of North Korean targets by unmanned, electronically controlled fighter-planes.

Kelly called this a "cruel hoax to play on the American family" and said it raised false hopes that the age of pushbutton warfare had arrived.

He said the Air Force used un-piloted radio-controlled bombers against German targets during World War II and flew them twice as far with nine times the bombing load as the Navy did in its launching Sept. 5 from the U. S. carrier Boxer.

Kelly said the Navy censored from the original news report, delayed until Sept. 17, the designation of the aircraft used, an out-moded Grumman Hellcat, and substituted the term "guided missile."

Air Force Magazine's Managing Editor John F. Loosbrook, writing in the same issue, said "Exercise Mainbrace" last September cast grave doubts on the effectiveness of aircraft carriers.

Loosbrook said the maneuver, conducted off Scandinavia by ships of the North Atlantic Treaty nations, was designed partly to show carriers could adequately defend NATO's northern flank. Instead, he said:

"Mainbrace exposed serious flaws in our whole philosophy of naval warfare, flaws which will be very difficult to explain away."

The operation, Loosbrook wrote, demonstrated carriers' vulnerability to mechanical failures, submarine and air attack and bad weather. Other drawbacks, he said, were excessive cost, the need for frequent refueling and questionable ability to perform effectively in employees of other companies or stores from handling the employer's products. The Taft-Hartley Act outlaws certain kinds of such boycotts.

Unions have argued that the ban permits a struck employer to transfer work to another plant and resume production.

Other arguments being drafted at Taft's direction: Redefinition of the term "Foreman" to make sure that those excluded from bargaining really are a part of the management.

Removal of penalties against individuals who strike in the waiting period that begins when either company or union notifies the other that the contract terminates in 60 days.

Clarification of relations between the general counsel and the National Labor Relations Board.

Provision for supervision of welfare funds by the Labor Department.

Speeding up of NLRB cases by removing bans on pre-hearing elections and on hearing officers' recommendations.

Taft says these are "basic principles" of the law which must be kept.

Right of free collective bargaining without government dictation, wage fixing or compulsory arbitration.

Right to strike except for the 80-day waiting period in national emergency disputes.

Responsibility of employer and union to carry out contracts.

Prohibition of unfair labor practices on the part of both management and labor. The closed shop and secondary boycotts are included in this ban.

Protection of the right to work.

Army vs. Navy Tops Final Day on Grids

NEW YORK (AP)—College football all but wraps up its thrill-packed 1952 season tomorrow with the traditional Army-Navy game and the final appearance of six bowl-bound teams heading a slim program.

There's a splattering of games scheduled for the next two Saturdays but this will be the final big splash before the gridiron sport ushers in the new year with the annual bowl classics.

A capacity crowd of 102,000, including President Truman, will sit in the Army-Navy stadium at Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium with the Middles favored to make it three straight over the Cadets but by no such margin as last year's 42-7 drubbing.

The game, scheduled to start at 1:30 p.m., EST, will be televised on the nation-wide network of NBC. The telecast is scheduled to start at 1 p.m.

And if that is not enough football in one day for television's football fans, they can see the latter part of the Notre Dame-Southern California game at South Bend, Ind. It'll be beamed over the same air waves as soon as the final gun is sounded in Philadelphia. Starting time at South Bend is 2 p.m., EST.

Although five other bowl teams are scheduled for action it is the appearance of second-ranked and unbeaten Southern California against seventh-ranked Notre Dame that has caught the fancy of football fans. The West Coast Trojans, who'll represent the Pacific Coast Conference against Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl, are a one touchdown favorite.

The four Southeastern Conference teams which will be in bowl games are favored in traditional affairs. Georgia Tech and Mississippi, headed for the Sugar Bowl, meet Georgia and Mississippi State, respectively. Alabama, opponent of Syracuse in the Orange Bowl, takes on Auburn; and Tennessee, picked to meet Texas in the Cotton Bowl, tangles with Vanderbilt.

Tulsa's high scoring Golden Hurricanes, who'll take on Florida in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, winds up the regular season against Texas Tech.

Also on the nation-wide program are such other traditional affairs as Boston College-Holy Cross, Oklahoma-Oklahoma A&M, Fordham-New York University, Tulane-Louisiana State, Virginia-William and Mary, Texas Christian-Southern Methodist and Washington-Washington State.

The last conference races were decided yesterday as Pennsylvania took the Ivy League crown with a 14-7 decision over Cornell and Utah downed Utah State, 20-0, to win the Skyline title with a clean slate of five victories.

Texas, already winner of the Southwest Conference championship, warmed up for its Cotton Bowl engagement by downing the Texas A&M, 21-12, in another traditional tilt. The victory gave the Longhorns a clean sweep in conference competition.

The first of the post-season bowl games also was played with East Tennessee State crushing Emory and Henry, 34-16, in the Burley Bowl at Johnson City, Tenn.

Miami (Ohio) University dropped out of the undefeated, untied group by losing to Cincinnati, 34-9.

In other turkey day games, Colgate outscored Brown, 33-27; Virginia Tech defeated VMI, 26-7; Wyoming nosed out Denver 21-14 and Santa Clara turned back San Jose 15-7.

Lions Lead Pro League

NEW YORK (AP)—Thanks to the Detroit Lions the National Football League has an undisputed leader today.

The Lions upended Green Bay 48-24 in a Thanksgiving Day game session of the national conference's No. 1 spot. But they'll occupy that lofty perch alone for only a couple of games.

The San Francisco 49ers and the Los Angeles Rams, each only a half game behind Detroit, tangle in the former city Sunday and the next games forward a few weeks, winner will climb back into a tie with the Lions.

The existing three-way tie between Cleveland, New York and Philadelphia in the American conference can also be broken this weekend when the Browns tangle with the Washington Redskins. The Giants take on the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Eagles engage the Chicago Cardinals.

Quarterback Bobby Layne tossed three touchdown passes as the Lions iced the game with 17 points against the Packers in the final period. Layne completed 16 of 30 aerials for 249 yards and ran the ball 13 times for 63 yards.

Green Bay furnished five times in the first half with Detroit recovering each time. Two of the bobbles were converted into scores. Tobin Rote kept the Packers in the ball game by firing three touchdown passes to end Bill Howton.

The Lions got their clinching points in the fourth quarter when Pat Harder kicked a 26-yard field goal. Moments later, Layne passed 22 yards to Cloyce Box on the three and Harder went across for the tally.

At Akron, O., the orphaned Dallas Texans over their first league game by upsetting the Chicago Bears 27-23. Frank Tripucka, with only 34 seconds left in the game, plunged over from the one.

Dallas, leading by 18 points at one time, found themselves trailing by a three point margin in the fourth quarter. Led by Tripucka, who completed 16 of 26 passes, they started a 75-yard march to the deciding touchdown.

George Blanda, the Bears' fair-haired boy, passed for two scores, one for 41 yards to Bill Dimech and another of 35 yards to Gene Schroeder. Billy Stone went over for the other Chicago touchdown.

Sports Roundup--

Aussies Prepare for Olympics Without Plans for Russians

NEW YORK (AP)—The Iron Curtain countries are going to be upset when they hear about preparations being made by the Australians to house athletes and officials at the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne. They might even boycott the event.

The Aussies, now going full steam ahead with their plans after a slow start, have announced they will construct a 600-building Olympic village at Heidelberg, seven miles from Melbourne. Each unit will contain two or three bedrooms, with all modern conveniences for 4,000 persons.

This is dandy, except that it makes no provision for the athletes representing Soviet Russia and its satellites to dwell in splendid seclusion by themselves, as they did at Helsinki the past summer.

"There will be no splitting of the teams," says one Melbourne scout. "Anyone who wants to do a Garbo act will have his task ahead of him. If the Iron Curtain countries want to be alone they will have to bring their own tents and camp in the Dandenonges."

The Australian dictionary describes Dandenong as a town of some 5,000 persons 18 miles from Melbourne, but we suspect that our correspondent is referring to a region, possibly rough and wooded, rather than to a specific community. At any rate, the implication is plain, and it does not figure to tries.

Arthur Coles, the self-made millionaire who took over as boss of the Melbourne Olympics five months ago, is from all accounts a ball of fire. Construction of a great new stadium seating over 80,000 almost in the heart of the city is under way and plans are being drawn for a swimming pool to cost nearly $800,000, which is a great deal of money in Australia.

The pool will occupy a site only about a mile from the general post office in the center of Melbourne and will seat some 6,000.

Otterville Wins From T&C Five There by 64-62

Otterville's town team downed the Town and Country quintet at Otterville Wednesday night in a Central Missouri Independents league tilt, 64-62, getting the win with a third quarter spree led by Edwards, the high scoring Otterville forward who poured in 35 points.

The Sportsmen held a first quarter lead, trailed by only three points at halftime and then fell behind in the third stanza. In the fourth, the T and C five was unable to catch up and wound up just two points behind.

Free throws were the difference as T and C had one more field goal than Otterville, but the winners outdid them from the charity line 14-10.

Murphy was tops for the losers with 20 points.

Irish Wrecking Crew Will Try To Upset S. Cal.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame's fearless wrecking crew will try to slay Southern California's defensive football team tomorrow and end the season as the nation's No. 1 spiler.

Upset fever is climbing in this gridiron empire like it did three weeks ago when the Fighting Irish topped Oklahoma 27-21 in a nationally televised game that still has the country talking.

Tomorrow's contest, starting at 1 p. m. (CST), will be viewed by a national TV audience following the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia that begins one half hour earlier. Officials of NBC, the outlet, estimate that about 35 minutes of the game will be shown in the bobtailed double-feature.

Oklahoma was one of three conference champions this season that were blasted from the undefeated ranks by the inspired Irish.

Texas and Purdue also fell as Notre Dame fashioned its current record of six victories, two losses (to Michigan State and Pittsburgh) and one tie, with Penn. the Ivy League titlist. Other Notre Dame victims were North Carolina, Navy and Iowa last week 27-0.

Unbeaten Southern California, the Pacific Coast conference's Rose Bowl hope against the Big Ten's Wisconsin on Jan. 1, has a nine game winning string. The Trojans, ranked No. 2 nationally to No. 7 for the Irish, haven't lost since Notre Dame spilled them 19-12 in the 1951 finale.

By defeating Notre Dame, the men of Troy can register their first unbeaten-untied season since 1932, when they shout out the Irish 13-0 in stride. They are a touchdown favorite.

Tomorrow's clash is the 24th in a bitterly-fought series between the two schools. It marks the first appearance of the Trojans at Notre Dame since 1949 when the Irish smashed to a 32-0 triumph, biggest victory margin of the entire rivalry.

Notre Dame has won 14 games and tied two. Of the 23 played, six have been decided by three points or less and 18 by two touchdowns or less.

Gonsalves Gets Favorite Role To Beat Cuban

NEW YORK, (AP)—Johnny Gonsalves is an 11 to 5 choice to increase his current unbeaten string and snap Orlando Zulueta's victory streak when he takes on the lithe Cuban in a Madison Square garden ten rounder tonight.

Gonsalves, 22-year-old lightweight contender from Oakland, Calif., has scored four victories and has drawn once in his last five outings. Zulueta, an improving 24-year old 133-pounder, has swept his last six. No. 6 was a cleancut decision over Paddy De Marco, Brooklyn contender, on Oct. 27.

Zulueta points to that victory and the fact that De Marco whipped Gonsalves last April, and says "I can beat Gonsalves, too. I am the underdog but that means nothing." He's got a point there. There have been as many upsets in the lightweight division of late as there usually is in a Southwest Conference football race.

This is Gonsalves' Garden and national television debut. He's anxious to make a good showing in order to boost his chances for a title shot with champion Jimmy Carter. The Californian thinks he can take Carter with ease.

Both the 5-10 Gonsalves and the 5-8 Zulueta are fine boxers featuring snapping left jabs. Neither hits too hard. Zuley has only four kayos to his credit while Johnny has stopped just five of his 34 rivals. The Cuban never has been stopped. Gonsalves has two kayos against him, by Henry Davis and Freddie Dawson last year.

Gonsalves' record is 26-6-2 compared to Zulueta's 41-15-8.

If you watch the fight via television, keep in mind that New York uses the round system. The referee and two judges do the voting and a majority vote is necessary to win.

Heinrich Can Set Records On Saturday

SPOKANE, Wash., (P)—Handsome Don Heinrich, whose football career at Washington has been full of dramatic moments, bows out of college competition tomorrow as an army private aiming at two individual titles.

With a three-day pass tucked in his GI coat in the dressing room, quarterback Heinrich will step out on the field against Washington State and:

1. Try to complete at least four passes to eclipse the current national leader, Tom O'Connell of Illinois who ended the season with 133 completions.

2. Try to beat out O'Connell and Ted Marchibroda of Detroit as the nation's total offense leader. O'Connell leads with 1,724, Marchibroda has 1,666 with a game against Houston Saturday. Heinrich has 1,506.

And most of all of course, he'll be trying to direct a victory over the arch-rival State Cougars who are rated one-touchdown underdogs.

If the 22-year old Washington "arm" gets those four completions, he'll go back to the Army on Monday as the second player in history to win the passing title twice. Davey O'Brien of Texas Christian did it in 1937 and 1938.

Heinrich won it first in 1950 in the same stadium where he'll end his career tomorrow in the week-end switch from camp to campus.

By coincidence, he also needed 134 completions then and the opponent was Washington State. Heinrich broke Chuck Conerly's record of 133 by one in the final seconds of that game, last of the season.

The Huskies' QB became a GI via the draft board this week. It appeared he wouldn't be around for the traditional WSC game and the chance to be passing champ again.

But Don was inducted at nearby Fort Lewis, didn't withdraw officially from school, and finished his processing in time to qualify for a week-end pass to be issued today.

LaMonte Flies High to Smear By 58-55 Count

LaMonte's high-flying Vikings put together scoring spurges in the second and fourth quarters to pin a 58-55 defeat on the Smithton Tigers in a PECAA basketball tilt played Tuesday night at LaMonte.

The Vikes counted 19 times in the second period to take a 25-14 halftime lead; played Smithton on even terms in the third quarter; and then slammed home 24 points in the final ten minutes to turn the game into a rout.

Veteran Jerry Sparks led the LaMonte scorers with 15 points, followed by Emmett Rice and Larry Wells with 11 and 12 each. Smithton was weakened by the absence of Bob DeWitt, one-half of their high-scoring duo of DeWitt and Delbert Wagenknecht. The latter had a bad night, but still led the Tiger point-makers with 11. Emmett O'Neil was second for Smithton with nine.

LaMonte also captured the B-team contest by a 44-16 margin. Lynes paced the Junior Vikings with 24 points, eight more than the entire Smithton five could collect.

Smithton's girls staged a spirited rally to prevent a clean sweep by LaMonte. Trailing 12-2 at the half the Smithton lassies got hot in the closing minutes to take a 19-15 decision.

West's Cage Champs Likely Will Repeat

NEW YORK (P)—Washington's mighty Huskies and California's Bruins figure to repeat as divisional champions in the Pacific Coast Conference and it would come as no surprise if the Huskies and Bruins finished the season among the nation's top ten basketball teams.

The way it looks from here, the top ten teams should look something like this:

1. Illinois. 2. Kansas State. 3. LaSalle. 4. Oklahoma A&M. 5. Washington. 6. Indiana. 7. Seton Hall. 8. Holy Cross. 9. California. 10. Minnesota.

With Wyoming, Skyline champions, having lost four regulars including Moe Radovich and Dick Haag, it looks like Brigham Young in 1953. The Cougars have lost one regular, leaving the second placers practically intact. Utah, despite loss of Bert Cook, Utah State and Wyoming should provide the chief opposition.

Colorado State and Idaho State are the favorites in the Rocky Mountain Conference. Montana State, co-champions with Colorado State last year, has lost four starters. Arizona State (Tempe) and Hardin-Simmons, also rans last year, may battle it out for the Border Conference championship. West Texas State and New Mexico A&M, the two defending champions, have lost several key men.

Tippy Dye's Washington team, which lost to UCLA in the PCL playoffs last year, should win the northern division title in a breeze. The only strong opposition is expected to come from Idaho.

Coach Johnny Wooden's UCLA team has lost two regulars—but the Bruins will be bolstered by Dick Ridgway, highest scoring sophomore in division history in 1951. He was out last year because of scholastic difficulties.

Classiest of the independents should be coach Bob Feenick's young and spirited Santa Clara Broncos. The conquerors of UCLA last year return with an intact squad headed by 6-7 Ken Sears and 6-5 Herb Schoenstein. San Francisco also looms strong among the independents as does Seattle and Portland. Another team to watch is Pepperdine College, California Collegiate Athletic Association champions for the last four years.

Michigan State set a new team record for total first downs against Texas A. & M. this year, exceeding by three their old work of 27 against Pittsburgh last season.

The 56,822 fans that watched the 1952 Detroit Lions-San Francisco 49er game was the largest crowd ever to watch a football game in Detroit.

Herald Mantle As Coming Star Of Major Teams

NEW YORK (P)—Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees is being heralded as the coming star of the majors but the young outfield star is just a "country cousin" to right-hander Walter Masterson of the Washington Senators. The bespectacled veteran fanned Mantle five straight times last season, each time with men on base.

On the other hand, Solly Hemus, the scrappy little shortstop of the St. Louis Cardinals, batted only .288 but called Robin Roberts, the mighty 28-game winning pitcher of the Philadelphia Phils, his particular "cousin." Hemus rapped Roberts for an even 400, whacking 10 blows in 25 times at bat. Despite his low batting average, Solly reached base 266 times in 151 games on 152 hits, 94 walks and was hit by 20 pitches. The latter was a painful distinction that was far and away the top figure in both major leagues.

With three television network fights shows and hint of a fourth to compete against next summer, Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International League feels that the majors may be forced to play more baseball games during the day. Shaughnessy, a crusader to curtain night baseball, blames that practice for the drop in minor league attendance and thinks that unless the majors return to play-

Matchbooks Urge Voting
NEW YORK (AP)—The presidential election campaign has been somewhat of a smoker's delight with scores of business firms, local chambers of commerce and civic groups sponsoring more than three million get-out-the-vote matchbooks. The Match Industry Information Bureau says one of the largest single order of 15,000 matchbooks was from the Oklahoma Farm Bureau for distribution at the state fair. A radio station in Almagordo, N. M., also gave away 15,000.

A Democrat class ad will do it.

According to the current Geneva Convention, signed in 1949, it is forbidden to insult or humiliate prisoners of war, or to take from them their personal property, their decorations or the insignia of rank.

Columbus introduced sugar cane culture to the Americans.

A number of signers of the American Declaration of Independence received their legal training at the Inns of Court, famous British law schools that date back to the 13th Century.

SUB KILLER—The Navy's latest answer to any possible submarine menace makes its first flight, above, from Burbank, Calif. The Lockheed P2V-6 is powered by turbo-compound engines for long range, high speed and short take-off. The plane is designed to lay mines, make night or low-level bombing runs, and high altitude bombing and photo reconnaissance missions.

WHO'S NUTS?—Not this Chicago squirrel. He might be "in the bag," but he's cold sober, and wasting no time in putting away a goodly supply of nuts for the winter.

Delaware's New Governor Studies Pay

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — As Delaware's lone congressman in Washington, Republican J. Caleb Boggs saw the costly turnover in government employees who left their posts for more remunerative positions in private industry.

He introduced a resolution in the House for a comprehensive study of public employees—their pay, job rating and benefits—as compared with men and women in private industry.

Now, preparing to take over as governor of Delaware Jan. 20, Boggs still is a strong advocate of bringing government pay in line with scales of private business. He says this "would go a long way toward bringing about respect for government and the type of government people have a right to expect."

Boggs, 43, son of a Delaware farmer, has a down-to-earth quality which has brought him popularity in his home state of 320,000 persons. He first was elected to Congress in 1946. Running for re-election in 1948, he was the only major GOP candidate to win in the state. He was again re-elected in 1950.

Boggs set out to be a lawyer, graduating from the University of Delaware in 1936 and earning his law degree from Georgetown University Law School at Washington, D. C.

"My ambition," he said, "always has been to practice law, but World War II came along and interrupted the practice I had begun and it seemed to break my stride."

As a reserve captain, Boggs was called to active duty in 1941. He served with the Sixth Armored Division through Normandy, Northern France, the Rhineland and Central Europe and was released in 1946 as a colonel.

Boggs and his wife and 6-year-old daughter, Marilu, live in a $95-a-month apartment near Wilmington. J. Caleb Jr. is a student at Brown University. Since Delaware has no governor's mansion at the state capital at Dover, the family will continue to live in their apartment.

Man Discovers Aunt Pinned Under Dresser

NEW YORK (AP) — A man calling to take his aunt out to Thanksgiving dinner found her pinned under a five-drawer dresser, where she apparently had been trapped for four days.

Miss Emma Benson, 55, a semi-invalid who has lived alone for 10 years, suffered multiple fractures of the spine. Hospital officials said she was in critical condition.

Her nephew, John A. Benson, called police to help him break down the door to her apartment when there was no answer to his knock yesterday. Neighbors hadn't seen her since Sunday.

Hal Boyle's Column—

Wilbur Had Too Much Turkey And Feels Miserable Today

By HAL BOYLE

HOMETOWN, U. S. A. (P)—'Twas the day after Thanksgiving and all through the house not a creature was stirring—not even the mouse named Wilbur Peeble.

Well, just barely stirring. America's most average citizen was in a bad way, Wilbur had celebrated feeling grateful about so many things the day before that this morning he felt ungrateful about everything.

A sharp pang seared through his stomach. He grimaced, then opened his eyes cautiously.

"You never get anything for nothing in this world," he said aloud. "Yesterday I never felt better, and today I never felt worse."

And all I had in between was a little fun.

His wife, Trellis Mae, sat up in her twin bed and looked over at him with hollow, accusing eyes.

"Well, my fine-feathered philosopher," she said. "You kept me awake all night. And now you want to keep me awake all morning?"

"How did I keep you awake all night?" demanded Wilbur.

"With your snoring. At first I thought it must be the radiator knocking. I simply couldn't believe sounds like that could come out of a human nose."

"People don't snore through their noses," objected Wilbur. "They snore through their mouths."

"Maybe ordinary mortals do. But you were snoring through your nose, your ears and wherever that secret hole in your head is."

"I guess I ate too much turkey," Wilbur said. "I thought I saw you wallowing once or twice."

"That must have been your two-headed brother."

"I beg your pardon."

"Well, he must have two heads," said Wilbur. "Let's be reasonable about it. No man could eat two turkey drumsticks at one time with only one mouth, and that's what he did. And when he finished, he kept both mouths open bragging."

If he made all the money he claimed he did this year, why doesn't he buy himself a square meal sometime?"

"Shall we discuss your brother now?" inquired Trellis Mae. "The one that borrowed carfare home from me the day of our wedding?"

"I give up," said Wilbur. "I'm a sick man. How do you like that? The boss gives me the day off, and I'm too sick to enjoy it. That's life for you. Why do I have to get sick on my own time?"

He noticed Trellis Mae was staring intently at a newspaper.

"What's new?" he asked.

"Well, the paper is full of fur coat ads—and it's only 28 days until Christmas," replied Trellis Mae.

Wilbur, falling back on the bed, cried, "it's cheaper to die."

Sister Kenny May Die by Saturday, Her Doctor Fears

BRISBANE, Australia (P)—Sister Elizabeth Kenny's doctor said today that the life of the famed poliomyelitis specialist is slipping away and that if her condition continues to deteriorate, he does not expect her to live until tomorrow night.

Arrangements meanwhile were made to divert an airliner to land here with supplies of a new drug, Trypsin, being rushed from the United States in a desperate last effort to dissolve the brain clot which is killing the 66-year-old nurse.

The plane is due here Saturday night and an automobile will rush the drug to Sister Kenny's home at Toowoomba, 85 miles west of here. Her physician, Dr. John Ogden, held out little hope that the drug would help her, even if she lives until it arrives.

He reported his patient's right side was paralyzed. She also has contracted pneumonia since she was stricken by the cerebral thrombosis Nov. 19. Large doses of antibiotics have resulted in no improvement in her condition.

Dr. Ogden said Sister Kenny now was unable to speak or recognize anyone.
